Wallington Cars and Couriers Ltd recognises that its activities give rise to a range of hazards, in particular road traffic accidents, lone working and musculoskeletal injuries. It also recognises that its employees may be exposed to hazards when providing on-site support to customers.

The Company believes that despite the presence of these hazards, all accidents and incidents of work-related ill health are preventable. It also recognises the legal responsibility to ensure the health, safety and welfare of persons affected by its activities.

As such, the Company is committed to:

- Preventing injury or ill health to anyone who may be affected by its work activities.
- Complying with all relevant legal, customer and other third party requirements.
- Continually improving its risk management and occupational health and safety performance.

The Company will achieve these commitments through the following means:

- The implementation and maintenance of an Occupation Health and Safety Management System that is independently certified as compliant with BS OHSAS 18001:2007.
- The systematic identification of hazards present and the application of a risk assessment procedure that will identify and implement appropriate control measures and safe systems of work.
- The maintenance of a set of objectives and a supporting programme of work that is focused on achieving its commitments and eliminating or reducing the major hazards present.
- The clear definition of individual management and employee responsibilities for implementing the Occupational Health and Safety Management System and achieving the Company's commitments.
- The provision of appropriate information, instruction, training and supervision so that all employees:
 - Are aware of their responsibilities and legal duties; and
 - Can support the implementation of the Occupation Health and Safety Management System and the development of a proactive health and safety culture.
- The maintenance of effective systems of communication and consultation on health and safety issues with all employees and other persons affected by the Company's activities.

The appropriateness and effectiveness of this policy, and the means identified within it for delivering the Company's commitments, will be regularly reviewed by Top Management.
